

Guide to Pre-Admission Assistance for International Students

Ver. Nov.1, 2022

International students wishing to apply to some of Kyushu U's Graduate Schools must first request the pre-admission assistance from the Kyushu U Pre-admission Support Desk (PSD).

Why? It is a standard practice among Japan's research-intensive universities that prospective students, prior to their applying to such a university, must first find a "potential" supervisor who is willing to take them under his/her wing. Kyushu University is no exception.

But it can be a tricky business finding such a person unless you are already associated with a right group of people with right connections. The role of the Kyushu U Pre-admission Support Desk (or PSD), launched in April 2022, is to help you navigate through such a protracted process.

PSD is designed, among other things, to review the information you have submitted on behalf of the faculty member you designate as your potential supervisor, thereby making it easier for the latter to consider your request.

Who is eligible to use PSD's services?

In order to request PSD's services, you (1) have must have graduated or expect to graduate from a university outside Japan, and (2) wish to enroll as a degree-seeking student or a non-degree research student (3) at the graduate schools and/ or departments listed below.

- (i) Mathematics
- (ii) Dental Science
- (iii) Pharmaceutical Sciences (EXCEPT those who have already found their supervisors on their own)
- (iv) Department of Library Science at the Graduate School of Integrated Frontier Science

Caveats:

- Even if you are applying to a school not listed above, some of you nonetheless would be instructed to use PSD's services.

Don't confuse the pre-admission support with the formal admission procedure!

In reading the instructions from the next page on, we suggest that you try to keep these two things separate, (i) PSD's pre-admission assistance on the one hand and (ii) the formal admission administered by our graduate schools on the other. Remember: what you are about to do is to make a request to take advantage of PSD's pre-admission assistance. You may apply to the Grad School of your interest only after you found your potential supervisor with the assistance from PSD, and consult with him/ her when to apply.

I. Flow of Pre-Admission Assistance

What you have to do prior to requesting pre-admission assistance	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Visit the official website of the Graduate School of your interest to gather more information. The application instructions published by each School usually contain a list of researchers who could supervise you. Try to single out a Kyushu U researcher whom you would want as your supervisor (potential supervisor, hereafter) by going through the list. Schools & Centers KYUSHU UNIVERSITY (kyushu-u.ac.jp)2. You can find out more about your potential supervisors by visiting the following site. Academic Staff Educational and Research Activities Database

IV. FAQs on Pre-Admission Assistance

Q1. Is there a deadline for the pre-admission assistance?

No. However, it takes approximately three weeks from the time of application till you receive the result of your pre-admission result. Besides, you will need to allow yourself a reasonable amount of time to communicate with your potential supervisor. Once PSD gives a green light to your pre-admission request, get in touch with your potential supervisor, and discuss the exact timing of your application with him/ her.

Q2. May I ask PSD, not the Graduate Schools/ Departments I am applying to, for information on application deadlines, application forms, the program I am applying for, etc.?

No. Please direct such inquiries to your applying school. The websites of all our graduate schools have contact information, through which you should be able to get in touch with an admission officer. Here is the list of the departmental websites.

Schools & Centers | KYUSHU UNIVERSITY \(kyushu-u.ac.jp\)

Q3: How do I set about looking for the faculty member whom I would like to work with as my supervisor?

You may use the keyword search function etc., to come up with a possible list of potential supervisors from "Academic Staff Educational and Research Activities Database" and/or "researchmap." Please make sure that your research theme matches the research interests of the faculty member you would like to work with.

Q4. Is it possible to designate more than one faculty member when I apply for the pre-admission assistance?

No. Only one faculty member can be selected per application. If there are more than one faculty member you wish to designate, please select the one whose research interest best fits your own research theme.

Q5. What if I were NOT given a permission to contact my potential supervisor directly?

In that case, you may select a second faculty member your potential supervisor and re-apply for the pre-admission assistance.

Q6. What are the differences between degree students and non-degree students at the graduate level.

【Degree Students】 Upon completion, degree students will be awarded graduate degrees (Masters and/or Doctorate).

【Non-degree students (in the case of Research Students)】 Research students are enrolled in the University to conduct research under the supervision of a faculty member, not to earn a degree or credits.

Q7. Do I need to make prior contact with the faculty member I would like as my supervisor before applying for the pre-admission assistance?

No. You must apply for the pre-admission assistance first. Only after PSD gave you a permission to get in contact with your potential supervisor, you are allowed to contact him/ her directly.

Q8. May I submit a screenshot of my online notification if I am unable to prepare my language certificate immediately?

Yes. We would accept a screenshot of your online notification. However, please make sure that your name and ID number are included so that we can verify that it is your score.

Q9. What am I supposed to do after PSD informs me that I am permitted to get in touch with my potential supervisor?

Please contact your potential supervisor directly via e-mail etc. PSD will provide you with his/her e-mail address. Your potential supervisor might ask for additional information, and if he/ she did, please comply with his/her requests. You will be permitted to officially apply to the graduate school of your interest once your potential supervisor gave you his/ her consent to do so.

Q10. If I were allowed to contact my potential supervisor directly, does it mean that I have secured his/ her permission to apply to the graduate school I am interested in?

Not necessarily. It all depends on how well your subsequent communications (including an interview if applicable) go with your potential supervisor.
